Annex B

The role and responsibilities of the Community Health Council

Background

Community Health Councils (CHCs) are responsible for representing independently and without bias the interests of patients and the public in order to influence and improve the way National Health Services are planned and provided in Wales. CHC members are local volunteers who act as the eyes and ears of patients and the public, visiting hospitals, listening to patient concerns and working with the health service to improve the quality of patient care.

Community Health Councils – organisational structure

There are seven CHCs in Wales, each one covering a distinct geographical area of Wales. These geographical areas are aligned with the seven Local Health Boards which are responsible for designing and delivering NHS services in that area (see annexes D & E).

Each CHC is supported by a small team of paid staff, as well as local authority, third sector and volunteer members. The seven CHCs are overseen by the Board of Community Health Councils.

While CHCs represent the voice of patients in their local area, the Board of CHCs represents the voice of patients and the public at a national level. The Board of CHCs sets out the national standards CHCs must meet, provides advice, guidance and support and is also responsible for monitoring and managing their performance.

CHCs in Wales:

- help people get the services they need for themselves and those that they care for, by offering information and advice about health and related services in the local area,
- continuously listen to what individuals and the community have to say about their NHS,
- act as the public voice by letting NHS leaders and managers know what people want and how things can be improved,
- foster good relations with local NHS services,
- consult the public directly on certain issues; and relay the public’s views to the NHS and the Welsh Government, and
- assist, advise and support people who wish to raise a concern about NHS services.
What do Community Health Council members do?

Some of the activities of the CHC, for example supporting individuals to raise a concern are carried out by the staff of the CHC. The role of CHC members is to provide a viewpoint from the public’s perspective. Members may be involved in the following activities:

- Visiting, and scrutinising local health services, including:
  - visits to GP surgeries, clinics and hospitals, listening to the views and experiences of patients, carers and staff,
  - participating in committees and working groups set up to monitor and review NHS performance, and
  - read and comment upon a wide range of NHS documents.

- Continuously engaging with the communities they represent and the health service providers serving those communities.

- Representing the interests of patients and the public in the planning and agreement of NHS service changes.
Annex C

The selection process

The interview panel will assess candidates’ personal statement to determine who it believes best meet the criteria for the role, and who will be invited to interview. The panel will rely only on the information you provide in your statement to assess whether you have the skills and experience required. Please ensure that you provide evidence to support how you meet all of the essential criteria.

The selection panel will be chaired by an independent panel member who is approved by the Office of the Commissioner for Public Appointments. The other three members are a senior Welsh Government official, a representative of the Board of CHCs in Wales and a further independent member.

Your application may be “long-listed”, subject to the volume of applications received, before it is passed to the shortlisting panel for consideration. You should be aware that in this situation, your application might not be considered in full by all of the panel.

We anticipate that during November 2018 the panel will have decided who will be invited for interview in early December 2018.

The panel will select for interview only the strongest applicants who it feels have demonstrated that they best meet the criteria set out in the person specification. However, if you have applied under the guaranteed interview scheme and you meet the minimum essential criteria for the post, then you will also be invited for interview.

If you are invited to interview and if the interview date is not already provided in this information pack, we will aim to provide you with as much notice as we can of the interview date. If you are unable to make the arranged interview date, we will endeavour to re-arrange it but it might not be possible due to time constraints within the appointment timetable or selection panel availability.

You will receive email communication from the Appoint system to let you know whether or not you have been invited to be interviewed. It is our intention that interviews will take place in Cardiff.

If invited to interview, the panel will question you about your skills and experience, asking specific questions to assess whether you meet the criteria set out for the post.

Candidates who the panel believe are ‘appointable’, will be recommended to Ministers who will make the final decision. The Minister may choose to meet with appointable candidates before making a decision. If he does, he will meet all candidates and in the presence of the panel chair or their nominated representative. There will be a time gap between interview and a final appointment decision being made. Candidates who have been interviewed will be kept informed of progress.
If you are successful, you will receive a letter appointing you as member of the community health council, which will confirm the terms on which the appointment is offered.

If you are unsuccessful at interview, you will be notified by Welsh Government. We appreciate it takes a lot of time and effort to apply for roles and that feedback is a valuable part of the process. As a result, the letter will provide the details of who you may approach for feedback on your interview and application, if you so wish.
